FEDERAL CONTROL OF ROADS COST $636,000,000

Chairman Esch Tells House

"Investments" in Form Of

000,000.Final Vote On Compromise Bill Expected Late Saturday.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, February 21.—Railroad Administration estimates place the net cost to the government of federal control of the railroads at $636,000,000, chairman Esch, of the Interstate Commerce Commission told the house today in opening debate on the conference report on the compromise railroad bill.

"This amount will have to be charged off as a war loss," he said. "One may say it was expensive but it was worth the price. Without the railroads transportation would have failed to supply our troops overseas."

Total appropriations of approximately $1,000,000,000, including those already made were the experience of Federal control," Mr. Esch said. He added that $1,250,000,000 were "investments" in the form of improvements made for the roads and for which they ultimately will pay.

Opposing factions of the railroad reorganization bill lined up for a last stand in the house today in a final vote on the Esch-Cummins compromise measure scheduled to be cast before adjournment. Indications were, however, that the vote would not be reached before late today. Less than 100 members were in the house when it met for the final fight. In the galleries were many labor agents and others.

Bill Amending the Smith Cold Storage Law is Vetoed By The Governor.

(By Associated Press.)

Columbus, O., February 21.—Governor Cox today vetoed the bill containing amendments to the Smith cold storage law and permitted the county auditors term extender bill to become a law without his signature.

He approved the Griswold bill, authorizing farmers to form co-operative societies for selling and buying. The Governor late yesterday vetoed the Evans public utilities bill.

In vetoing the amendments to the Smith cold storage bill, the Governor said:

"What we have in the way of law now has been tested by the courts, and we are certain of the power which the state is exercising. The new bill brings into question the rights of the state with respect to interstate traffic, and I doubt very much whether we can escape prolonged legal controversy."

"Therefore, it is better to preserve what we have than to accept a new proposal, the enduring life of which is not guaranteed."

The county auditors' bill, which the Governor permitted to become law, extends terms of present county auditors to March, 1923. Present terms would have expired in September, 1921. Beginning November, 1922, county auditors hereafter will be elected for four instead of two years.

MAKE HEADWAY
ON THE TREATY

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, February 21.—Many days of partisan wrangling over the peace treaty promised to give way today to actual progress toward disposal of the pact just one year since debate started on the league of nations.

A vote on the first proposed modification of the reservations adopted at the last session was expected to be reached during the day.

SENATORS WOULD WASH HANDS OF RESPONSIBILITY

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, February 20.—The question of party responsibility for the peace treaty deadlock was threshed over on the Senate floor today by both the Republicans and Democrats seeking to wash their hands of the Senate's failure to act and of any consequences in the political campaign.

Although both sides professed an earnest desire to compromise and squabbled for credit for past compromise efforts, there was such a note of hopelessness in the discussion that the treaty's irreconcilable opponents told the opposing party leaders they might as well put the question of ratification out of their minds and turn the Senate's attention to the business of legislation.

Wilson Agrees To Pay For Tonnage in Excess of Loss
By Sinking.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, February 21.—Reconditioning of the former German liners and their operation by the government in regular routes to South America, Europe and the Orient was urged today by Chairman Jones of the commerce committee in reporting to the Senate a bill approved by the committee prohibiting the sale of the craft until congress has adopted permanent shipping legislation. These ships, the report said, are urgently needed in our foreign business.

President Wilson's statement to the Senate disclosing that he had entered into a tentative agreement at Paris whereby the United States would pay the difference between the nation's onnage loss and the appraised value of seized German ships, gave a new angle today to the informal discussion in Congress of the ship controversy precipitated by recent efforts of the Shipping Board to sell the fleet of former German passenger liners. While the negotiations for sale of the ships have been called off Chairman Payne of the Board today was going ahead with plans for sale of the former German cargo vessels.

The flu has been dwindling for a week or ten days until there is very little of it in the city at the present time, outside of cases where the patients are recovering.

In the county generally conditions also have greatly improved and some districts are virtually free of the disease.

All public places were reopened
Saturday and churches will hold their usual services Sunday, with school re-

SECOND CHAPTER IN KAUFF-HONE AUTO THEFT CASE

Regarding the charges of grand larceny against Bonnie Kauff, New York Giants' fielder, who has played in the world's series, and Kauff's desire to get hold of Frank Hone, self-confessed automobile thief who may be responsible for Kauff's troubles,
the Chillicothe News says in part:

"The arrest of Kauff has a peculiar significance in this city. During the past winter, Kauff together with Frank Hone, had been managing a tire and accessories shop in New York City. Last fall, in the midst of the automobile theft cases, which started Chillicothe and neighboring towns, Hone was arrested while visiting at his home in Lancaster.

"At the time, Hone was charged with complicity in the theft of the Ruth Waters car at Washington C. H.
When the local police were notified that Hone was wanted in Washington C. H., Detective Hamelbach went to Lancaster and arrested Hone who was visiting his family that Sunday.

"The trip back to Chillicothe was made in Hone's big Cadillac touring car, which the police tried to connect up with some theft. This, however, they were unable to do. Hone was turned over to the Washington authorities and later released under bond. A few days after Hone's release, a telegram was received here from Kauff, stating that Hone had left New York with $2,500 belonging to the famous ball player.

"According to the New York dispatches, Kauff and a 'half brother' had been operating the store, but the 'half brother' is now missing. The metropolitan police expect to connect Kauff with the theft of several other cars. They allege that he and the 'half brother' were in the business on a profit sharing basis, and consequently, if Hone is the missing 'half brother,' the missing $2,500 may have been Benny's share of the value of the Cadillac car which Hone was driving. It is still believed that this car was one which had been stolen."

Washington

The pages of American history are filled with the accounts of the lives and deeds of heroes; more heroes perhaps than we realize, for many of them have been forgotten.

Heroes have their day and, with few exceptions, sooner or later pass into the oblivion of forgetfulness. We revise our lists of immortals with each new great crisis. The World War relegated some to obscurity. Great warriors of the past seem not so great now, or their deeds have been eclipsed by those of newer heroes. Great thinkers of the olden days fall into the shadow of master minds of the present.

But out of it all, and through it all, stands an imposing figure here and there whose glory is undiminished, and whose greatness is but accentuated in the keen light of the new day.

Washington and Lincoln are pre-eminent among these glorious survivors. No other name has dimmed their luster. No modern idea or ideal has thrust theirs into discard. No one has taken their places in the imagination of the people.

George Washington was essentially an aristocrat, but of a school that has well nigh passed. By taste and character he was a born comrade of the French marquis, LaFayette, and to this happy congeniality may be attributed some measure of the great success of their co-operation in arms. Washington was born a "gentleman," but he was the sort of a man in whom such a distinction wrought confidence and devotion among those of lower orders of society rather than jealousy and animosity. He was a real gentleman—a man.

George Washington was faithful and efficient to his own vision of liberty. That vision was not quite the vision of liberty that prevails today and would most likely be found among the class which we call reactionary.

He was of the safe, conservative, resourceful type heightened by a commanding character. He was cast of the same true metal as Lincoln, and though aided by the advantage of birth that Lincoln had not was no less a real American.

In the sound, mature counsel he has left us, lies Washington's greatest abiding service to his people. The two great restraining hands laid upon the public are, one of them Washington's, who warned us against European alliance, and the other Monroe's, who warned European monarchies against hedging us round on the American continent. Washington made us a republic. Monroe kept us the republic we have been.

We still need Washington to point ever to us the danger of curtailing our freedom by alliance with those not of our spirit. We need Lincoln to warn us that economic liberty is an essential complement to political liberty. And we need Wilson's doctrine that favored and peaceable as we may be, we cannot remain unscathed if the seeds of war are allowed to germinate anywhere in the world.

Holidays As Reminders

By strange co-incident two of our nation's greatest heroes were born in February and twice in this short month national holidays celebrate their nobility.

It is well to pause a moment and remember that such holidays are not merely occasions for recreation—they are reminders of the men whose amazing qualities of character and leadership the nation desires to incorporate in its own character.

Nor could there be a more opportune time than upon the threshold of General Washington's birthday to give a little thought to the Democracy of America, which he fought to establish.

That the germ of a dire disease is threatening our beloved democracy—the Americanism which stands for the whole scheme of life as well as for our Government—there can be no doubt; and that the American people will arouse themselves to combat the present menace of class rule, selfishness and tyranny there is also little doubt, but the fight for Americanism must be made.

The world cannot be re-created through economic revolution—homes, churches, schools and communities must combine in conscientious effort for the principles of Americanism.

One of our leading educators has said, "True democracy is applied Christianity—teaching men to love their neighbors and to follow the Golden Rule."

It may be that America will be called upon to go through even greater trials than in the past, but as long as she holds to the ideals of such men as Lincoln and Washington and trains her children in the spirit of their Americanism, there is no fear for the future of our country.

POETRY FOR TODAY

WITH A SMILE

Let whatever the world may bring
With a smile and a jog along;
There's always a song for the song
You sing if your heart is in the song.
And when you meet the world with a Smile it's sure to smile on you.
While over your head the sun burns
Bright and the velvet skies are blue.
Meet whatever the world may bring
With a cheery hope and trust;
Kick up your heels and dance along,
And sing and smile and be just.
Whatever you give the world it gives
A measure of that and more.
To add to the end as on you wend
To the wealth of your little store.
Meet whatever the world may bring
With a faith that naught can shatter;
There's always something that's not Just right, there's always something
The matter.
But the heart that goes along with a
Song, and the lips that go with a Smile
Shall win a song for their own ere Long and a smile from the after-while.

The CHENEY

Tone, Quality—and Technique

Cheney Tone Adjuster

The Cheney will play a lullaby as soft as a whisper—or fill a large hall with a rollicking dance.

Twelve distinct gradations of tone, logically controlled at the source. Tones always crystal clear, sweet and pure.

"THE LONGER YOU PLAY IT, THE SWEETER IT GROWS."

A virtuoso could scarcely display his art with an ordinary violin or piano. Perfect technique alone does not make a master.

So with phonograph records. It is easy to play them—but the Cheney, like a Stradivarius violin, gives renditions new beauty. Its rich, majestic tones are unrivalled.

Acoustic principles, never applied before to phonographs, have set The Cheney unquestionably in a class apart.

A wedding of special interest in the New Holland community, of which both bride and bride-groom are well known young people, took place Friday afternoon at three o'clock, when Miss Muriel Bloomer, daughter of Mrs. Mary V. Bloomer, became the bride of Mr. Irvin Yeoman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Yeoman.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Johnson of the Church of Christ at the parsonage, with the attendants Miss Donna Barnett and Mr. Jefferson Bloomer, brother of the bride.

The bride, a charming and lovely young girl, was wearing a modish spring suit of midnight blue wool poplin, with blue georgette blouse and becoming spring hat en suite.

An elaborate wedding dinner was served at the bride's home at seven o'clock Friday evening. Covers were laid for fourteen, the guests confined to the immediate families and five of the bride's most intimate girl friends, Misses Mary Lape, Donna Barnett of this city, Miss Grace Timmons, of Wilmington, Misses Beryl Johnson and Ella Louise Johnson, of New Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Yeoman went at once to housekeeping on the farm of the bride-groom's father near New Holland, their home tastefully furnished and in readiness.

Both young people have a large circle of friends in town and county and are the recipients of cordially extended best wishes.

An exceedingly pretty miscellaneous shower was given Friday evening by Mrs. James Johnson (nee Marie Cook) for Mrs. Frank Holdren (nee Dorcas Waters) a bride of last week.

Washington's birthday suggestions were effectively used in the decorations and dainty luncheon which followed the shower.

Twenty-five young women grouped merrily around the honor guest and the opening of gifts, arranged on the dining room table, beneath a canopy of scarlet streamers, was the signal for added gaiety.

The bride, looking very fair and winsome in a gown of blue satin, expressed her thanks prettily for the rray of gifts, including both the useful and the ornamental.

Mrs. Johnson was wearing a becoming gown of brown velvet. Victrola music was a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. R. F. Eglund delightfully entertained with five table of cards Friday evening, honoring the birthday of her husband.

The home was beautifully decorated with flags and national emblems and the George Washington idea admirably carried out in the delicious menu served. In the center of each table was a miniature flag pole, with tiny hatchets as favors; while on each plate burned "Ye Olde Time" tapers.

After a spirited game of 500 Mr. P. E. Welford won a box of Colonial bon bon for the high score, and Mrs. Harry Hays won the consolation favor a small cherry tree.

Mrs. Leland was assisted in the hospitalities by her daughter, Miss Esther, and Mrs. James Summers.

The out of town guests were Mr. Charles Beckstrum of Omaha, Neb., and Arthur A. James, Chicago.

It was altogether an evening of distinctive pleasure, Mr. Leland, the most genial of hosts, aiding his wife and daughter in the cordial hospitalities of the evening.

Miss Lora Ellen Tharp came down from Columbus Saturday evening to remain over the Washington's birthday holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tharp.

Mrs. George Santee, who was called to Greenfield, by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. James Priddy, and has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Penn, for several days, left Saturday for her home in Chicago. It is indeed a welcome news that Mrs. Priddy is making steady improvement.

Mrs. Minnie Cawley is visiting in Cincinnati for the week end.

Mr. Will Todhunter was taken ill with influenza while visiting in Columbus this week. He has not been able to return to his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Woodrow and daughter, Marion, of Chillicothe, are week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay Townsend are moving to Springfield, where Mr. Townsend has taken a position with the Robbins-Myers Co. Mr. Townsend is now in Springfield. Mrs. Townsend joining him in a couple of weeks. Their departure is a source of regret to many friend here.

Mr. Lawson Rhodes went to Dayton Saturday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Earl Barnett and two sons are recovering from a severe attack of influenza.

Stutson & Co. store. Mrs. L. G. Spragg, in charge of the Stutson millinery department joined them for the last week of their stay to attend the wholesale spring millinery openings.

LEESBURG MAIN STREETS OF MUD

Urging the necessity of improvement of the town's main streets, which have been in a deplorable condition for some time, the Leesburg Citizen says:

"Every time an auto or buggy is seen wallowing its way through the principal streets of this village, the conviction grows stronger that something must be done to remedy them before another season rolls around. It is useless to waste words deriding them. You can say the worst and the half has not been said.

"As they now exist they are a direct stab at the business interests of very commercial establishment abutting on them, a nuisance to the rest of the townspeople who are forced to wade through them, and a standing invitation to the rural people to STAY AWAY from our town.

"Something permanent must be done and done quickly."

HILLSBORO ABOUT TO LOSE TRAINS

Hillsboro is in danger of losing her Wednesday and Saturday night trains over the B. & O. Railroad, the public utilities commission having been asked to release the road from running the trains because they are said to be losing money at the rate of $30 the round trip.

With the passing of the traction line, Hillsboro's railroad facilities have been dealt a hard blow.

GEORGE R. PENSYL YOUNGEST SOLDIER ANSWERS LAST CALL

George R. Pensyl, 70, died a few minutes after six o'clock Friday evening at the Fayette Hospital. Mr. Pensyl recently underwent an operation at the Fayette Hospital of a serious character from which he never rallied.

Mr. Pensyl was one of the thousands of youths that answered the call in the Civil War, and had the added distinction of being the youngest enlisted man in the state of Ohio. When barely 15 years old he volunteered for service in the 175th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, Company E, in 1864, and served until the end of the war. He was a member of the local G. A. R. B. H. Millikan Post. He formerly resided at Highland, O.

For several years Mr. Pensyl and wife have made their home on Market street. Besides the wife and daughter, Mrs. Estel Smith, two grandsons survive, Forrest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estel Smith, and O. A. Dowdy, in Columbus.

The body was removed to the Klever Undertaking rooms and prepared for burial, and was later taken to the Estel Smith home on Paint street. Funeral services in charge of the Odd Fellows Lodge, of which Mr. Pensyl was a member at Highland, will be held Monday morning at Grace Methodist Church.

Burial will be made in Washington cemetery.

ROAD MATTERS ARE DISCUSSED

County road problems for the year were discussed at a joint session of the County Commissioners, County Road Superintendent, Township Trustees and Township Road Superintendents, held Saturday.

All townships in the county were represented and a great deal of interest was taken in the road plans taken up for Fayette to be carried out during the present year and in a manner so that no town ship would be slighted.

Co-ordination of the road building and repair plans so that there would be some road system to the work was the object of the meeting.

COUNTY HEALTH BOARD INACTIVE

So far no additional meeting of the County Board of Health has been held, and no budget prepared so that the work in Fayette county can be taken up in the proper manner.

It is understood that while no formal resignations have been tendered by the board members elected, that some of them contemplate resigning.

FAYETTE FARM BUREAU NOTES

(By L. H. Goddard, Sec'y.)

For the benefit of those who may have wondered what the Farm Bureau did with its money last year the following information is given.

The Farm Bureau collected $425.00 from that number of members. Against this amount three orders were drawn on the treasury, amounting to slightly over one hundred dollars. Most of this was for dues to the State Farm Bureau, the balance for stationery, etc.

The Classification fight cost somewhat over one hundred dollars, for advertising in the local papers and for a contribution to the State Home Protective League. More than this amount, however, was contributed by the members of the Executive Committee and a few other members of the Farm Bureau.

The balance from the Classification fight, which has been turned into the Farm Bureau Treasury, makes the total there now just about a third of a thousand dollars.

No officer or member of the Executive committee has received a single penny of the funds turned into the Farm Bureau. As a matter of fact the members of the executive committee have some of the spent from fifty to one hundred dollars in their work for the Farm Bureau without getting any cash return for same. The members of the Farm Bureau need have no fear of their ever presenting any bills for such expenditures, however, for each man feels that he has already been very well paid. If nothing else had been done by the Farm Bureau but to win the Classification fight, provided we can keep it won, each member of the committee as well as most of the members of the Farm Bureau will be ahead more than the amount named.

EX-SERVICE MEN BADLY WOUNDED TRAINING HERE

Local Firms Taking On Partially Disabled Men
Who Fought In France.

Allowed to Choose Their Own Vocation and Draw
Good Pay From Government.

Three former service men who suffered handicaps as results of wounds received in action during the war were placed in positions with local firms, Friday, through the Federal Board for Vocational Education and the Red Cross department, to learn trades that will fit them for work in which their physical handicaps will not be a serious hindrance to their wage earning powers.

John S. Bowens was placed with the Ohio State Telephone Company and will serve as telephone repairman, a line of work for which he has shown preference.

John W. Beedy was placed with H. A. Link Furnace Company and will take up metal work and furnace repair.

Cecil McCann was placed with F. A. Thornton of the City Meat Market where he will learn meat cutting.

Another former soldier expressed a preference for furniture repair and will probably be placed with a local firm in a few days.

While the men are in training they will receive from $50 to $115 per month; unmarried men receive $80 and married men will receive $115. After the man has completed the training his compensation, which he receives from the government in the nature of a pension again becomes payable.

The Vocational Education is now obtainable for disabled soldiers in two forms. Institutional training in which the applicant is sent to some school or college and placement training or job training which is in the nature of an apprenticeship in the various branches of industry.

Through Lewis Herbst, who has charge of the Seventh Division of Rehabilitation, an attempt is being made to reach every man entitled to the training. The Red Cross is assisting in the work.

Washington's Birthday, February 22

A rare combination of statesmanship and military genius; an unusual embodiment of tenacity, unshakable courage; a keen and militant sense of justice; these were the great virtues of George Washington.

They represent the spirit of fairness which we should strive for in our business relations, which should manifest itself in the sale of good merchandise, in the giving of values, in the guarantee of satisfaction. In that spirit we are trying to run this store.

CHILD SUFFERS SERIOUS BURNS DEATH EXPECTED

While Mrs. Anna Orhood was absent from her home on Yeoman street for a few minutes Friday her little son, William, aged six years, and the oldest of three children left alone, was probably fatally burned when one of the younger children applied a burning fire brand to the child's clothing.

Mrs. Orhood had stepped across the street to see her sister-in-law who was ill, and neighbors, hearing the screams of the children, rushed in only to find that the brave little lad had had himself torn the burning clothing from his body, but not before great burns had left the skin hanging loose on his back, arms, hands neck and part of his face.

The flames had burned his clothing almost to ashes and had ignited the floor. So badly was the child burned that even his little finger nails were burned to a crisp.

The child was placed in bed and a physician summoned. During the trying ordeal of dressing the wounds, the child made no outcry, but bore his real suffering patiently, even though he pain itself caused his face to be raw and white.

While the child's condition is very grave there is some hope of his recovery, although the chances are much against the brave little lad. The child's father is dead.

WASHINGTON HIGH HAS FAIR CHANCE TO WIN TOURNAMENT

Beats Circleville In Hot Game, Leaving Strong Buckskin Her Opponent.

Greenfield and Chillicothe the Others Left in Semifinals at Greenfield.

By defeating Circleville High School, the same team that a week before smothered the Blue and White by a score of 49 to 18, Washington High School Friday night took the first game of the South Central Ohio Basketball Tournament at Greenfield and the right to play Buckskin in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon. It was the hardest fought game of the four games played Friday evening and the score that decided the contest was 20 to 12.

Circleville was held to three field goals and failed to register a point from the floor until the last of the third quarter when a field goal added to their half a dozen points scored by fouls.

Joe Wilson, a forward, but because of the absence of Rogers, was playing at guard and allowed his man one basket, the same man that a week before had registered ten field goals. At the other guard Laughlin covered the floor in the same manner and won applause from all attending delegations for his tactics. Relf, Geiger and Dern at the other end of the floor scored the points that won for Washington High.

Because of the absence of Waverly High at the appointed time Washington and Circleville played the first game. To "Froggie" Geiger goes the honor of scoring the first point in the big scoring, when he dropped a ball through the ring; Captain Relf claimed the first field goal of the tournament.

The attitude of the two teams was distinctly noted when Washington and Circleville went on the floor. The bright blue of the Washington team seemed quiet and the men practiced slowly but steadily; Circleville came on the floor with a rush and seemed defiant with the jaunty red of their outfits and received a big hand from the galleries. When Referee Byrd of the Ohio State tossed the ball up for the first play it was then that Circleville realized the different team they were facing.

Before the game Tommy Rogers, who was unable to play, read a letter to the boys from Pete Willis, captain and coach of last year's champions. (He is also carrying the left foot of a rabbit in his left hip pocket.)

In the second game Buskakin defeated Waverly in a game that was hardly interesting. The score was 46 to 14. This game matched Washington High with Buskakin in the semi-finals.

While game to the last New Vienna never had a chance with Greenfield and was defeated 36 to 9.

Chillicothe showed a reversal of form and swamped Hillsboro 43 to 17. By this victory Chillicothe earned the right to face Greenfield in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon.

The teams victorious Saturday afternoon play Saturday evening at eight o'clock for the championship.

Scores of Washington rosters attended the first game of the tournament.
